HOUSE BILL 2175

Introduced by the Honorable Elias C. Bulut, Jr.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Quality education is a major cornerstone in the development of an effective, efficient and productive human resource, which in turn is itself a major piece in the attainment of genuine development, especially for marginalized and impoverished provinces such as the Province of Apayao.

With the end goal of providing quality basic education to the people of Apayao, the provincial leadership has been exerting aggressive efforts towards the establishment of learning institutions in strategic places within the different municipalities so as to meet the continuously increasing the demand for educational services in these towns.

In line with such efforts is what this bill seeks---the establishment of a national agricultural and trade high school at Brgy. San Juan in the municipality of Sta. Marcela, Province of Apayao, which was identified as one of the strategic areas for a secondary educational institution in said municipality. The establishment of a secondary institution in the said barangay would not only serve to help the existing high schools in the municipality cope up with the growing demand for educational services, but more importantly, it serves to provide a more accessible alternative to these schools for a considerable number of students from the barangays immediately adjacent to San Juan, but which are of a considerable distance from the existing high schools.

Considering that the municipality of Sta. Marcela is the one of the bigger agricultural producers of the province, the proposed high school would undoubtedly serve to contribute to over-all development of the sector. The curriculum to be offered to the students will equip them with the skills and techniques that would prepare them for higher and more advanced studies in agriculture and trade especially if they plan to pursue degrees in such field.

In consideration of the above, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
