EXPLANATORY NOTE

A system of free public secondary education was set up by Republic Act No. 6655 in May 1986. One of the highlights of the law is a provision for secondary education curriculum geared towards the infusion of skills and knowledge to assure gainful employment of the graduates from high school.

In the sixth District of Negros Occidental, also known as the "CHICKS" Area (an acronym for its four municipalities and two cities). Majority of the population are of high school age. While this is so, there is not enough public national high school education. To the young population of the CHICKS Area — a district steeped in poverty and left behind by development plans in the past, and establishment of national secondary education facilities would be a redeeming measure that will brighten up the future of its young population.
