

Republic of the Philippines

FIFTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

House Bill No. 3590

Introduced by Representatives Mariano Michael M. Velarde Jr. and William Irwin
Tieng (BUHAY Party List)

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Survival of children beyond the years that they are most likely to succumb to disease and illness is one of the most important indicators of development and progress in a country. Proper interventions introduced by the government, if implemented well, may reduce a large fraction of childhood deaths.

The Philippines has achieved modest gains in reducing infant mortality. In 2005, it was recorded that 25 deaths occurred per 1,000 live births in the country. Currently, it was reduced to 21.45 per 1,000 live births.¹ Although the country was able to reduce infant mortality, it was able to do so at a very slow pace.

This bill seeks to rapidly decrease the incidence of infant mortality in the country by requiring DOH, the local government, state universities and colleges, the civil society and non-governmental organizations to work together, under the declared policy of the administration of President Benigno Aquino of public-private partnership, in determining certain criteria in fighting infant mortality.

Hence, the approval of this bill is earnestly requested.

Hon. Mariano Michael M. Velarde Jr.
