HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FIFTEENTH CONGRESS

First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 3801

Introduced by: HON. VICTOR J. YU and MARIANO U. PIAMONTE JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The existing Geology Profession Law, which was enacted in June 1965 as Republic Act No. 4209, has become largely obsolete in the effective regulation of the practice of Geology at the present times. Hence, the urgent need to repeal the same and enact a new law to be more realistic and relevant to current professional practice of Geologists in the Philippines.

The proposed law will hasten the training and development of competent, virtuous, and productive and multi-skilled Geologists whose standards of professional practice and service shall be excellent, world-class and globally competitive through regulatory measures, programs and activities.

The increasing scope of application of the Geology profession now necessitates the need to redefine the practice of the said profession, and to clearly define the various specialized branches of the same. The advent of science and technology advances in the mineral and construction industries over the past four decades lead to the creation of various fields of expertise and specialization such as mineral and energy resources exploration, engineering geology, environmental geology, computer applications, etc. such scientific and technology advances has resulted to a greater economic appreciation of mineral resources and the importance of safe infrastructure in the country.

The proposed law embodies provisions to clearly define and delineate the scope of practice of the aforesaid various fields of specialization of the Geology profession. Likewise, the enactment of environmental laws and the need to effectively address the social concerns of local communities have become essential aspects of the geological, mining and mineral processing professions and operations in the country.

In addition, the entry of the Philippines into regional and international covenants and/or accords, likewise necessitate the need to amend the law to enable Filipino Geologists to avail of the potential benefits of the said covenants and/or accords, such as employment in the signatory countries.

Effectively, the proposed new law is designed to create more jobs and job opportunities to Filipino Geologists.

The Professional Regulatory Board of Geology is by law, currently under the administrative supervision of the Professional Regulation Commission. There are no conflicts, overlapping or redundancies with the proposed measures repealing the Mining Engineering Law and the Metallurgical Engineering Law.

Furthermore, the proposed measure is designed to implement more effective professional regulation and at the same time promote and recognize the vital role of the Geology profession in the economic development of our country as well as in nation building.

Approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
