AN ACT REQUIRING THE TEACHING AND INCULCATION OF THE NEED OF EVERY PERSON TO FIGHT THE EVILS OF GRAFT AND CORRUPTION IN THE SOCIETY, OF THE VARIOUS PROCESSES AND PROCEDURES IN GOVERNMENT AND OF TRANSACTIONS OCCURRING IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR, OF THE STEPS THAT CAN BE UNDERTAKEN IN CASE GRAFT AND CORRUPTION OCCURS, AND OF THE RIGHT AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF CITIZENS IN GOVERNANCE, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The evils of graft and corruption have always plagued both the public and private sectors of our society in the Philippines. Graft and corruption in our society weakens our democracy and the integrity of our various institutions, leads to violations of human rights, distorts markets, prevents the proper delivery of basic services to the people, increases inequality and injustice in the society and allows organized crime, terrorism and other threats to human security to flourish.

In order to address this problem, the United Nations adopted an instrument to address globally the problem of graft and corruption. The United Nations Convention Against Corruption (UNCAC) provides the clear message that the international community is determined to prevent and control corruption.

Article II, Chapter 5 of UNCAC provides the preventive measures that states shall adopt in order to combat the problem of graft and corruption. Paragraph 1 states "Each State Party shall, in accordance with the fundamental principles of its legal system, develop and implement or maintain effective, coordinated anti-corruption policies that promote the participation of society and reflect the principles of the rule of law, proper management of public affairs and public property, integrity, transparency and accountability. Paragraph 2 provides "Each State Party shall endeavour to establish and promote effective practices aimed at the prevention of corruption."

In our fight against graft and corruption both in the public and private sectors of the society, education is an effective preventive tool. People's trust in the system can be regained if they take part in the fight against graft and corruption. In order that people participate, it is necessary that they be informed and educated. And it would be more effective if the information-campaign and education start in school. Our students at an early stage would be informed of the need of every person to participate in the eradication of graft and corruption in the society, of the various process and procedures in government and of transactions occurring in the private sector, of the steps that can be undertaken in case graft and corruption occurs, and of the right and responsibilities of citizens in governance.

In view of the foregoing, immediate passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
