HOUSE BILL NO. 169

---

Introduced by Honorable ERIC D. SINGSON

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill seeks to require tobacco manufacturers to use at least seventy five percent (75%) locally grown tobacco in the manufacture of cigarettes in the Philippines. In other words, locally grown tobacco should comprise 75% of the end product (cigarette).

For more than thirty years in the past, tobacco farmers in the North have enjoyed a certain level of economic stability and prosperity, giving them the opportunity to improve their standard of living that enabled them to send their children to school. Education, after all, is the key to the solution of poverty in the countryside, because it equips the children with the necessary qualifications for gainful employment and with the skills and talents to succeed in their chosen fields of endeavor.

In the past years, however, the cigarette manufacturers have reduced considerably the use of locally produced tobacco and shifted to the use of imported tobacco as raw materials in the manufacture of their cigarettes. Because of this, many farmers could no longer sell their tobacco and eventually went bankrupt. Thus began the decline of the tobacco industry that has brought untold hardships to our people in the North.

The tobacco industry is a regulated industry and there is no reason why we should not impose certain regulations to protect our own local farmers like they did in Malaysia by enacting a law similar to what is being proposed by this bill.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly requested.
