

SIXTEENTH CONGRESS
OF THE REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES
First Regular Session

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

House Bill No. 406

Introduced by Representative Susan A. Yap

EXPLANATORY NOTE

It is the policy of the State to place utmost importance to the dignity of each human being and guarantee respect for individual human rights. The State prioritizes the enactment of laws and institution of programs that will promote human dignity and protect the people from any threat of violence and exploitation.

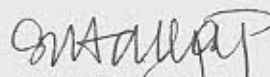

As a signatory to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, the State undertakes, among other things, to "take all appropriate measures, including legislation, to suppress all forms of traffic in women and exploitation of prostitution of women."

The Philippines ranks 4th among nine nations with the most number of children in prostitution (60,000 to 100,000 as of 1997), with Metro Manila, Angeles City, Puerto Galera in Mindoro Province, Davao and Cebu as the top five areas for child prostitution and sex tourism.

There are around 400,000 to 500,000 prostituted persons in the country that include women, some male, transvestites and children.

In order to address this alarming problem of prostitution, this bill proposes a change in approach from viewing the prostitute as the source of the problem to holding the exploiters accountable for the crime. The Revised Penal Code, particularly Article 202, punishes "women who, for money, engage in sexual intercourse or lascivious conduct". This falls short of recognizing that most, if not all, prostitutes are forced to enter and stay in that way of living because of compelling reasons such as poverty and/or being victims of human trafficking. More importantly, it fails to address the criminal liability of exploiters such as recruiters, pimps, bar or brothel owners, and customers, who cause the prostitution as they create a demand for it.

This bill also proposes measures to help prostituted persons by entitling them to government services accorded to victims of violence against women, such as medical services, counseling, shelter, protection, legal services and livelihood training, among others. This will help in the restoration of the lives of the victims of prostitution and contribute to the country's development as well.
