SIXTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

House Bill No. 2580

Introduced by Representative Estrellita "Ging" B. Suansing

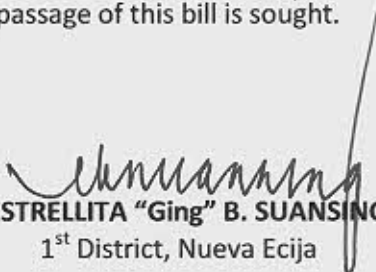

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Central Luzon State University (CLSU) started as a farm school, the Central Luzon Agricultural School through Executive Order No. 10 in 1907 with the initial emphasis on the development of skilled and technician-type graduates to meet the human resource requirements in the opening and cultivation of rich farmlands. In 1950, by virtue of Executive Order No. 393, it was converted into the Central Luzon Agricultural College and later elevated into its current name and status by virtue of Republic Act No. 4067 with the goals of quality and excellence in training, discovery of new knowledge and proactive engagement. Unfortunately, having laudable objectives will mean nothing if young and talented students are unable to gain admission to reputable colleges and universities due to economic, social and environmental difficulties.

In line with our government's program to improve quality of life in the province through scientific and technological education, this representation proposes to establish an extension campus of the Central Luzon State University in the Municipality of Guimba, Nueva Ecija. The proposed extension campus would pursue academic excellence in the advanced agricultural, aquacultural, technical, industrial, technological and professional fields to meet the current and projected needs for trained manpower in a developing society.

Moreover, the establishment of an extension campus would help in guaranteeing the accessibility of technology education and provide modern quality education for the students and populace in the Municipality of Guimba and nearby municipalities.

In light of this, earnest approval and expeditious passage of this bill is sought.
