AN ACT
RECOGNIZING THE OBSERVANCE OF NOVEMBER 17 OF EVERY YEAR AS THE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS' DAY, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Filipino students have long been at the forefront of Philippine history. During the Spanish colonization, although it was the Katipunan that eventually led the revolutionary movement against the colonizers in 1898, the contribution of the student reformists helped open the minds of many Filipinos into supporting the fight for freedom and democracy.

During Martial Law, organizations such as the Student Cultural Association of the University of the Philippines and the Kabataang Makabayan were instrumental in the active participation of the youth in social issues. The said organizations advanced student activism and national democratic thought throughout the country, resulting in massive demonstrations during the 1970s that were pivotal in the snowballing effect of public unrest against the dictatorship.

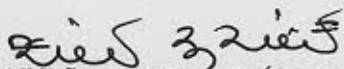

The student movement continues to demonstrate its unfailing commitment to fight against all forms of discrimination, oppression, and injustice. "Education for All" is a call continuously made by groups such as the National Union of Students in the Philippines, the League of Filipino Students, the College Editors Guild of the Philippines and the Student Christian Movement of the Philippines.

Every year on November 17, students and schools all over the world celebrate the International Students' Day to commemorate student activism and its contribution to democracy and the world's societies. Since it was first commemorated in London by the International Students' Council in 1941, the tradition has been kept by various student organizations worldwide. In the Philippines, the time has come for Congress to formally recognize the celebration of International Students' Day as part of its commitment to legislate laws for the youth's social, intellectual, and moral development.

Approved on third reading in the 15th Congress, immediate approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
