SIXTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 2829

Introduced by Rep. Winston "Winnie" Castelo

EXPLANATORY NOTE

There are writings on the wall, matter-of-factly.

Everyone is batting for heavier punishment for carjacking or carnapping, first from the victims but even more so with potential victims, meaning, the general populace of peace and freedom loving people.

The upsurge of carjacking cases in recent weeks create the 'shark-attack-effects' in our political beach that it seems, everyone is now afraid to swim, in a manner of speaking. But since our is a democracy, people just have to lead normal lives and in fact, enjoy Constitutionally-guaranteed rights to property and to life to the fullest without the spectre of harm, injury or death.

Thus, carjacking as a crime must now carry much longer and heavier punishment than what Republic Act No. 6539 so stipulates. Under the proposal that simply counterparts the same and similar measure filed by Senator Francis 'Chiz' Escudero, this bills further seeks to make the crime as non-bailable offense.

In other words, let the work of "zero-tolerance policy" of this genre of crime begin. The strong endorsement for its immediate approval into law is hence most earnestly prayed for.
