House Bill No. 2852

Introduced by: REPRESENTATIVE ABIGAIL FAYE C. FERRIOL

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Poaching in Philippine waters by foreigners has long been a perennial problem in our country. Reports of foreign vessels caught by the naval authorities periodically form part of the news. These incursions into Philippine waters are often coupled by the plunder of our natural resources. The severity of this problem was exposed during the middle of this year when a vast collection of corals and other marine species was seized by the authorities. This was followed by a subsequent discovery of another large stash of various endangered marine species in the southern part of the country. These revealed the atrocious acts against the Philippines' marine life in recent memory.

This sad state of our environment is worsened by the reality that the perpetrators are given a punishment grossly incommensurate with their crime. In fact, an official from the naval forces lamented that foreign violators are simply deported and that there is a need for tougher laws. Last September, a batch of foreign fishermen involved in illegal fishing was deported. The fines imposed on them were waived.

This kind of treatment has emboldened some of our neighbors and has resulted in their brazen pillage of our marine resources. In addition to the immense damage to our environment, the continued and habitual plunder of our environment by foreigners is a plague that adversely affects Filipinos who are dependent on aquatic resources for their livelihood. Most of these fisherfolk live in poverty thus providing another compelling reason for the government to protect the country's marine resources. It is imperative that the government take up the cudgels for this disadvantaged sector, composed of people who barely subsist on meager resources, from unscrupulous foreigners who slowly deprive them of their means of subsistence.

This proposed measure seeks to strengthen the penalties for illegal activities of foreigners in Philippine waters. It is hoped that the amendment of the Fisheries Code of 1998 will serve as a stronger deterrent against foreign incursions and will show the country's commitment in the preservation of our natural resources as well as our countrymen's source of livelihood.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
