SIXTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 3716

INTRODUCED BY REP. MAXIMO B. DALOG

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The labor market needs so many trained skilled workers as substantiated by various advertisements in the different newspapers and job placement agencies. However, numerous students opt to go to academic high schools because there are no established techno-vocational high schools to cater to their instructional interest and need.

One of the major causes of unemployment is not only the lack of education but also the mismatch of workers' qualifications from the need of the labor market. And with the establishment of many industries, the demand for skilled and trained workers is relatively high.

The establishment of the Sadanga National High School in Sadanga, Mountain Province into a Technical-Vocational and Skills Training High School would partly address the need for trained techno-vocational individuals to play an active role in the techno-vocational field.

There is no other techno -vocational high school in this municipality, hence the need to convert an existing national high school into a Technical - Vocational and Skills Training High School. Furthermore, this will support RA 10533 otherwise known as "Enhanced Basic Education Act of 2013.

In view of the foregoing premises, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
