Sixteenth Congress
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 3756

Introduced by Honorable Joaquin M. Chipeco, Jr.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Under Section 16 of Article III of the 1987 Philippine Constitution it is provided that "All persons shall have the right to a speedy disposition of their cases before all judicial, quasi-judicial, or administrative bodies." However, due to perennial clogging of the court dockets in our country, this constitutional right has become illusory to many Filipinos.

For instance, the combined caseload of the five (5) existing branches of the Regional Trial Court in the City of Calamba, Province of Laguna is presently 4,301 cases, averaging 860 cases per sala. This is a far cry from the ideal or manageable ratio of 300 cases for each branch. On the basis of this ratio, additional nine (9) branches of the court must be created in the near future for Calamba City to head-off delays in the resolution of disputes from reaching critical mass. This upward adjustment, it must be noted, is a conservative estimate, based only on the total caseload of the five branches at present, discounting the annual rate of population growth in that city which, even now, has been designated as a Regional Center.

While the Supreme Court continuously adopts judicial reforms geared towards facilitating the caseload in the various courts, the same can only achieve so much in the matter of early resolution of judicial controversies. In the meantime, government must increase the number of courts if it were to improve the administration of justice in our country.

It must always be remembered that justice is one of the basic needs of man. It was Gladstone who taught us that "justice delayed is justice denied." On the other hand, the Earl of Mansfield insisted, "Let justice be done, though the heavens fall."

In view of the foregoing, the early approval of this bill is most earnestly sought.
