HOUSE BILL NO. 4401

Introduced by Representative Giorgidi B. Aggabao

Explanatory Note

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) has served as an important stimulus to the Philippine economy , generating additional employment and economic activity amid the relative scarcity of domestic capital resources. The Philippines has to do more, however , in order to attract and capture more foreign investments, in terms of more liberal incentives, efficient infrastructure system and more vibrant market.

This bill seeks to amend Republic Act No. 4726 otherwise known as the "Condominium Law" by including industrial estates within the definition of a condominium. When a foreign investor invests in the stocks of a condominium corporation, he acquires ownership rights over the condominium system thereby giving him a more stable asset base which he can then use for financial leveraging and related purposes.

Short of a constitutional amendment that would achieve this objective, this bill addresses the need to realign our policies in order to be at par with other countries vying to offer investment venues to the world's capital resources.

Approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
