

Republic of the Philippines
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Quezon City

SIXTEENTH CONGRESS
Second Regular Session

House Bill No. 5407

Introduced by HONORABLE SCOTT DAVIES S. LANETE, M.D.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Under the Regalian doctrine which is embodied in Section 2, Article XII of the 1987 Constitution, all lands of the public domain belong to the State, which is the source of any asserted right to ownership of land. As an incident of ownership over public lands, it is also the prime duty of the State therefore to promote and develop these in order for them to reach their full use and potential.

Being an archipelago, the Philippines is gifted with an abundance of beaches with incomparable beauty. Because of this and the persistent efforts of the State, the country has gained acknowledgement as a major tourist destination in the world. Throughout the century, beach attractions such as Boracay Beach in Aklan, El Nido in Palawan, Puerto Galera in Mindoro etc., have become and continue to be an attraction.

However, these are not the only places to explore in the Philippines. The plethora of wonderful beaches in the country remains undiscovered and untapped. Examples of which are the virgin undiscovered beaches located in the easily accessible municipality of Pio V. Corpuz, Province of Masbate.

Pio V. Corpuz offers a breathtaking experience with its vast islands filled with fine white sand. One of these is Balangingi Island. This island is a 4.9 hectare track of land declared as a marine sanctuary of Pio V. Corpuz. It boasts of small cottages where tourists can stay a day or two to enjoy nature with fine white beach front and beautiful corals suitable for swimming, snorkeling and diving. It is a 30 minute ride by boat from the town proper of Pio V Corpuz with affordable rates for boat hire and inland facilities rentals.

Another attraction in Pio V. Corpuz is a unique boat making industry situated in Barangay Bunducan. Most males in the locality construct boats from small to big and deliver them to anywhere in the neighboring municipalities, provinces and regions as well. These products (boats) are also being sold to Cebu, Samar, Leyte, mainland

Bicol, Boracay and to all other destinations where boats are necessary for transportation and fishing.

These are just a few examples of the hidden treasures of Pio V. Corpuz. This bill then seeks to jumpstart the development and promotion of the wonders of Pio V. Corpuz by declaring it as an eco-tourism zone. Through this, the recognition of its hidden wonders shall be fast-tracked and the progress of the surrounding community shall also be benefited without compromising the existing ecosystem. In view of the State policy to promote and maximize tourism as a means for economic development, early approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
