SEVENTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

House Bill No. 5328

Introduced by HON. EDWARD VERA PEREZ MACEDA and HON. JOHN MARVIN "YUL SERVO" NIETO

EXPLANATORY NOTE

On November 28, 2014, while stretching during a PBA Legends exhibition game in Ynares Sports Arena in Pasig, PBA player Samboy Lim collapsed ("Lim"). Lim starred for the Letran Knights and the Northern Consolidated Cement national team before joining San Miguel Beer in the PBA in 1986. He was known as the "Skywalker" for his high-flying ability and acrobatic moves. He was named as one of the league's 25 Greatest Players List during the PBA's Silver Anniversary in 2000 and was elected to the PBA Hall of Fame in 1999.

After he collapsed, he was reportedly unconscious for twenty-three (23) minutes before reaching the hospital, where he slipped into a coma. Had the medical support team present in the venue know of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), the probability of Lim slipping into coma might have been dramatically reduced.

In honor of Lim, Republic Act No. 10871, authored by Rep. Joseller "Yeng" M. Guiao, was drafted and lapsed into law on July 17, 2016. The law, known as the "Samboy Lim Law" and the "Basic Life Support Training in Schools Act", mandates both private and public schools to provide their students with basic life support training through the use of psychomotor training.

Cardiac arrest is an electrical malfunction in the heart that causes an irregular heartbeat (arrhythmia) and disrupts the flow of blood to the brain, lungs and other organs – is a leading cause of death in the Philippines.¹

When a person has a cardiac arrest, survival depends on immediately getting CPR from someone nearby. Almost 90 percent of people who suffer out-of-hospital cardiac arrests die. CPR, especially if performed in the first few minutes of cardiac arrest, can double or triple a person's chance of survival.

Republic Act No. 10871 paved way for a CPR-ready Philippines. It is because of this that this bill proposes to declare July 17 of every year as a non-working holiday to allow the celebration of saving lives through CPR and CPR training in a truly meaningful way.

Approval of the bill is, therefore, earnestly sought.
