HOUSE BILL NO. 7352

Introduced by Representative Kristine Singson

This bill converts the Ilocos Sur Polytechnic State College (ISPSC) into the Ilocos Sur Philippines Polytechnic University (ISPPU), by integrating the North Luzon Philippines State College (NLPSC).

The ISPSC and its campuses, and the NLPSC have throughout the years, undergone several institutional transformations to meet the demands of the communities that they serve. Ilocos Sur has vast human and agricultural resource bases that play significant roles in the economic growth of the province. This socio-economic and agricultural vibrancy can be seen in the transformation of these SUCs - the ISPSC from being a farm school in 1913, and the younger NLPSC which began as a community college in 1975, into what they are today. They both became State Colleges through bills sponsored by former Deputy Speaker Eric Singson, with the vision of later converting them not only into a premier state university but also as centers for excellence, development, and research. We believe that the time for another institutional transformation has come.

The integration of the two state colleges is salutary to the Philippine Higher Education Reform agenda which provides for amalgamation as a key component, and the people of the Second District of Ilocos Sur agrees and conforms to this agenda. The amalgamation of the ISPSC and the NLPSC, and their conversion into a university would not only consolidate the resources of the national government and complement the endeavors of the provincial government but it would also give prestige to our humble district. It would be a realization of the provisions of the Philippine Constitution on the protection and promotion of the right of all citizens to have access to quality education at all levels and the Constitutional mandate of the State to establish, maintain, and a complete, adequate and integrated system of education relevant to the needs of the people and society.

The ISPSC has campuses spread all over the 2nd District, with the main campus in Sta Maria and extension campuses in the city of Candon and the municipalities of Narvacan, Tagudin, Santiago, and Cervantes, and the NLPSC is at the center and the capital of the district in Candon City. They are strategically situated making them easily accessible to everyone including the indigenous people from the upland areas of Ilocos Sur and those from nearby municipalities of the Cordillera Administrative Region.

It is imperative that everyone, especially the youth, should be given the chance to develop and improve so they can contribute to the overall competitiveness of our country. Everyone should have the opportunity to step up to the challenge of becoming highly productive and globally competitive by providing them the best education that the government could offer. It is time to give the people of the Second District of Ilocos Sur a university that they so rightly deserve.

In view of the foregoing, the approval of this bill is earnestly recommended.
