AN ACT
ESTABLISHING THE NATIONAL FILIPINO YOUTH MUSEUM

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Filipino youth played key roles in the nation's historic struggle for liberation, justice, peace, and prosperity.

Andres Bonifacio and Emilio Jacinto were at the helm of the Katipunan, an underground organization which aimed to liberate the Filipinos from Spanish colonial rule. Jose Rizal, Marcelo H. Del Pilar, and Mariano Ponce led the Propaganda Movement and wrote about the atrocities and oppression the Filipinos suffered under the Spanish occupation. During the Martial Law years, activists like Edgar Jopson, Lean Alejandro, Eman Lacaba, and Lilirosa Hilao sacrificed their lives to restore democracy.

In light of these historical facts, a national institution dedicated to the heritage, heroism, and martyrdom of the Filipino youth is yet to be established. The youth's historic contributions to people's struggles for freedom, rights, and equality should not go unvalued and unnoticed, leaving a gap in our collective memory as a nation.

Thus, knowledge of the Filipino youth's contributions to nation-building is crucial in developing people's appreciation of history, which in turn will aid them in discerning and rejecting any attempts its revision and to challenge the youth of today in heeding the call to fulfill their role as the hope of our nation.

A National Filipino Youth Museum is needed to commemorate the Filipino youth's heroism and to profile the specific achievements that the youth – individually and collectively – have made in all aspects of Philippine society.

In view of the foregoing, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
