House Bill No. 2763

Introduced by REPRESENTATIVE JOSEPH GILBERT F. VIOLAGO

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Article XIII, Section 11 of the 1987 Constitution states:

"The State shall adopt an integrated and comprehensive approach to health development which shall endeavor to make essential goods, health and other social services available to all the people at affordable cost. There shall be priority for the needs of the underprivileged, sick, elderly, disabled, women and children. The State shall endeavor to provide free medical care to paupers."

Further, the State is also mandated to undertake appropriate manpower development and health research, responsive to the country's health needs and problems.

This proposed bill which establishes the National Diabetes Center and Foundation (NDCF) is in accordance with these State policies, as it seeks to provide quality, efficacious and accessible medical care in the field of diabetes which affects 9.7 percent of our country's adult population alone.

The abovesaid statistic will double up if we add the 12.5% of Filipinos at risk of diabetes with impaired glucose tolerance. Hence, when combined, we have 1 out of every five Filipino adults or approximately 11 million that has either pre-diabetes or diabetes. This gains more significance when we consider the steady rise of Pinoys afflicted with this disease by 2030 which is estimated to be more than 7 million—undoubtedly a serious health problem for the nation.

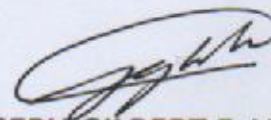

Closely associated with diabetes are also long-term complications like blindness, heart and blood vessel disease, kidney failure, nerve damage and stroke. It also affects many pregnant women.

Also, consider that diabetes was the 9th leading cause of death from 1999 to 2002, and that the number of deaths due to diabetes grew the fastest among all diseases between 1999 and 2005. In 2009, diabetes was already recorded by the DOH as sixth leading cause of deaths in the country. Globally, the Philippines ranks 10th among countries with the highest diabetes incidence.

With the establishment of the NDCF, we will also be assured of more relevant health research and information that would be most crucial to the continuing education of our diabetics, their families and the would-be diabetics especially in the health care management of the disease to improve not just the survival rate but also increased rates of recovery and return to normal life and the attendant decrease in cost of diabetes care.

Verily, we must all recognize NOW that there is an urgent need to provide, support and maintain this specialized and integrated medical services institution for people suffering from diabetes, and the needed medical and scientific research and education of our people on this disease, as well as its closely-related diseases, to positively contribute to its effective control, prevention and cure. Corollarily, there also exists a concomitant imperative to train medical experts and specialists and other medical and technical personnel in this field.

Considering the foregoing reasons and stressing again that diabetes incidence in the country will get worse in the next years to come, the approval of this landmark legislation is hereby earnestly sought.
