NINETEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 6051

Introduced by HON. LUIS RAYMUND "LRAY" F. VILLAFUERTE, JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The humble intention of this proposed measure is to contribute to the attainment of food security that remains elusive to a lot of Filipinos. This is in line with President Ferdinand "Bongbong" Marcos Jr.'s call for the importance of agriculture in pushing for growth and employment in the country.

To further advance agriculture and food security, this measure aims to promote the practice of urban farming. Urban farming is the practice of cultivating, processing, and distributing food in or around a village, town, or city which could also involve animal agriculture, aquaculture, and agroforestry, among others.

It provides many opportunities for citizens to have easy access to several agricultural products right within their cities and/or communities. Moreover, under this measure, urban agriculture and vertical farming shall be integrated into the academic curriculum for secondary and tertiary-level students of both public and private academic institutions. This will impart early information, skills, and knowledge to scholars about urban agriculture and vertical farming that could, later on, help them choose the said fields as a career.

In this light, the approval of this bill is fervently sought.
