

Republic of the Philippines
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Quezon City

TWENTIETH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 990

Introduced by Representative Ivan Howard A. Guintu

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The State affirms the basic right of all Filipinos to mental health as well as the fundamental rights of people who require mental health services. In recognition of this right by the State, Republic Act 11036 or the Mental Health Act aims to create 24/7 hotlines that would provide assistance to individuals with mental health conditions.

In recognition of this right, and in support of the aforementioned Republic Act, this bill seeks to strengthen the mental health services of State Colleges and Universities. This bill ensures that there are trained professionals, as well as adequate staff, to cater to the needs of the students who are having mental health problems. Through the establishment of mental health offices in all State Universities and Colleges, it would adhere to the affirmation of the state to have health services readily available. The World Health Organization suggests that 15% of Filipinos in their youth are affected by mental health problems. This is exacerbated especially in the years of online learning due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

This bill was first filed by Rep. Harris Ongchuan in the 19th Congress. Without the passage of the bill in the 19th Congress, this bill is being refiled.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.

Representative, 1st District of Capiz
