

Republic of the Philippines
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Quezon City

TWENTIETH CONGRESS
First Regular Session
HOUSE BILL NO. 1772

Introduced by REPRESENTATIVES JOSEPH KIM C. YU and JEYZEL VICTORIA C. YU

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The 1987 Philippine Constitution itself mandates the State, through Article II, Sec. 21, to promote comprehensive rural development and agrarian reform. It has been a long-standing perception that the agrarian reform and agricultural industries will always play a main component of food security and sustainable livelihood.

The Philippines is an agriculturally rich nation with its vast agricultural lands across the archipelago, and the many waters connecting the islands, farming and fishing are two highly available industries in the country for purposes of livelihood and employment opportunities. However, there are more farmers who are close to their retirement age already, with young people having an interest in farming decreasing in numbers. Even though farming and fishing are always linked to the success of food security, we do not have sufficient programs and measures pushing for the reforms specifically beneficial to the young farmers and fisherfolk, giving them a sense of security in pursuing an agricultural career.

This bill seeks to institutionalize the Young Farmers and Fisherfolk Challenge Program, targeting to entice the young generations of today to consider the farming and fishing industry as their future career paths. It likewise creates a Young Farmers and Fisherfolk Challenge Council that will oversee the proper implementation of the program.

Should this measure be enacted, it would provide a concrete framework and strengthen the support of the nation to the young generations of farmers and fisherfolk; hence, passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
