EXPLANATORY NOTE

Since 2016, there have been at least 8 reported murders of prosecutors. The victims are:

City prosecutor Rolando Acido – October 26, 2016
Prosecutor Johanne Noel Mingoa – January 11, 2017
Prosecutor Diosdado Azarcon – May 22, 2017
Assistant Prosecutor Maria Ronatay – July 18, 2017
Assistant Provincial Prosecutor Reymund Luna – September 29, 2017
Assistant Prosecutor Rogelio Velasco – May 11, 2018
Prosecutor Mary Ann Castro – January 17, 2019
Chief Inquest Prosecutor Jovencio Senados – July 7, 2020

Further, there are at least 2 other prosecutors who were attacked but fortunately survived, Prosecutor Manuel Tesiorna and Prosecutor Jesephone C. Olivar.

These highlight the dangers that our prosecutors face in the discharge of their vital role in dispensing justice.

While there can never be a price that would ever be commensurate to their lives, additional compensation or hazard pay will be a good show of support and a recognition of the importance of prosecutors.

The government is already providing hazard pay of "at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the monthly basic salary" to various government personnel whose work entails "occupational risks or perils to life", which is why it is also important that prosecutors be given hazard pay as they also face great "risks or perils to life" by reason of their profession.

In view of the foregoing, immediate approval of this measure is earnestly requested.

RUFUS B. RODRIGUEZ
