

TWENTIETH CONGRESS)
REPUBLIC OF THE PHILIPPINES)
First Regular Session)

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Introduced by Representative Rufus B. Rodriguez and Representative Maximo B. Rodriguez, Jr.

House Bill No. 2173

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Section 1 of Article XIV (Education) of the Constitution provides, in part, that the State shall take appropriate steps to make education accessible to all. Likewise, the State is directed by the Constitution to “establish, maintain, and support a complete, adequate, and integrated system of education relevant to the needs of the people and society.”

This bill seeks to create the National Education Coordinating Council in order to integrate, coordinate and interface the program and policies of the formal and non-formal educational system.

In the Philippines, the system of education is implemented by the Department of Education (DepEd), the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) and the Technical Education and Skills Development Authority (TESDA). These three agencies are independent bodies and supreme in their respective realm of responsibilities. As such, they have their own distinct set of policies and programs which sometimes clash with each other, thus adversely affecting the educational system in the country. Hence, there is an imperative need to coordinate the activities and functions of the three agencies to better implement the programs and policies set by the national government relative to the operations and management of the educational system.

The measure proposes to establish the National Coordinating Council which will act as the over-all advisory and coordinating body for all literacy endeavors and human resource development program of the country. It is an inter-agency body composed of representatives of the three agencies of education and various government agencies. The Council is tasked to ensure a coherent, integrated, proficient and responsive educational system in the country.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.

RUFUS B. RODRIGUEZ

MAXIMO B. RODRIGUEZ, JR.
