House Bill No. 2749

Introduced by Representative Julius Cesar "Jay" V. Vergara

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Palayan City's recorded existence began in 1965. Prior to the birth of the city, a portion of the land in the Municipality of Bongabon was categorized as a government stock farm, being a government facility for the development of animals supervised by the Bureau of Animal Industry (BAI).

From being a government stock farm, it was transformed on 19 June 1965 into a city and the new capital of Nueva Ecija through the enactment of Republic Act (RA) No. 4475. By virtue of Proclamation No. 495 signed by then President Diosdado Macapagal, the date of the formal organization of the government of the City of Palayan was proclaimed on 05 December 1965.

The city is now transforming into a vibrant capital of Nueva Ecija. More than fifty years back since 1965, a lot of changes and developments have transpired. With the city's vision to become an investment-friendly, agro-industrial and agro-tourism hub anchored on the opening of Palayan City Business Hub and other commercial establishments, the city will soon become the new center of business industries in the province. What started as a portion of neighboring city and municipalities such as Cabanatuan City, Municipalities of Bongabon, Sta. Rosa, Laur, and Gen. Natividad, Palayan City continuously transforms into a modern, sustainable and resilient city that espouses the balanced management of socio-economic development and environment to ensure equitable growth and promote the welfare of all Palayanos. These milestones are commemorated during the yearly celebration of its foundation anniversary.

In line with the city's week-long founding anniversary celebration which is held every December 1 to 5, Agro Trade Fair is one of the highlights where processed Calamansi Juice tops the farm products being displayed for sale and promotion or advertisement. Calamansi (Philippine Lime) is the city's accredited One Town One Product (OTOP). Aside from the trade fair, there are numerous activities during the week-long celebration which include the following: Celebration of Larong Pinoy, Gabay Pagmamahal sa mga Nakakatanda, Youth Congress, LGBTQ Congress, Indigenous People Day/Week, Motor Cross Challenge, Ginoo at Binibining Palayan, Street Dancing/Drum and Lyre Competition, Karera ng Kalabaw and Cook Fest, Zumba Festival, and Araw ng Barangay.

As a form of recognition, a celebration of its founding anniversary is necessary. This bill therefore seeks to declare every December 5 of the year as a special non-working holiday in the City of Palayan so as to give time to its constituents to engage in and enjoy the activities prepared by the city government.

Given the foregoing, this Bill is respectfully submitted for immediate consideration and approval.
