House Bill No. 3770

INTRODUCED BY REPRESENTATIVE PM VARGAS

AN ACT
PROVIDING FOR THE UNIVERSAL DISABILITY SUPPORT ALLOWANCE
FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES, APPROPRIATING FUNDS
THEREFOR, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

In the Philippines, persons with disabilities represent at least 12% of the adult population and face significant barriers in accessing education and health care, community and citizenship participation, and seizing economic opportunities. As a result, half of them are out of work, and those who work are less likely to have formal employment and are more likely to be poor, to have finished only primary education or none at all, and to not receive the health care they need.

In overcoming these barriers, persons with disabilities and their families face significant additional disability costs related to accessing essential services, seeking and retaining work, and participating in society. These costs include private transportation, support for information and communication, assistive devices, and human assistance.

In addition, due to the lack of support services, most of those requiring personal assistance have to rely on family members who have to reduce or stop working to provide such support. Overall, persons with disabilities have less income and more expenses than those without disabilities, which greatly increase their vulnerability and undermines their economic empowerment and escape from poverty.

In the last decades, successive governments have adopted a set of measures to support persons with disabilities such as 20% discount on goods and services, mandatory and subsidized PhilHealth membership, and the 4Ps program. While those measures aim to improve the socio-economic situation of persons with disabilities, they have significant limitations in who can benefit from them.

The discount and tax exemptions are beneficial only to persons with disabilities who already have a certain level of income and purchasing power, and mostly in urban areas where there are establishments that can fulfill official requirements. Moreover, for the PhilHealth and 4Ps programs, barriers to accessing these services remain unaddressed, such as a lack of sign language interpreters in facilities and inaccessible public transportation to service centers. In other words, there are still major gaps in the adequacy of the programs' coverage and accessibility, which leave most persons with disabilities unsupported.

As evident during the COVID-19 crisis, the economic vulnerabilities of persons with disabilities were intensified and even highlighted the limits of the current social protection system to immediately respond to protect persons with disabilities and their families from the socio-economic impact of the pandemic. While the vast majority have experienced loss of income and have multiple needs, due to the limitations of the current social protection systems and despite the government's efforts to roll out new measures, most persons with disabilities have failed to receive any support.

In response to the prevailing challenges faced by persons with disabilities, this bill proposes the adoption of a universal Disability Support Allowance of Two Thousand Pesos (PhP 2,000.00) per month. Unlike other social protection programs such as SSS and GSIS, where beneficiaries may lose their disability pensions when acquiring employment, the Disability Support Allowance shall apply to registered persons with disabilities regardless of employment status, as well as income level and/or receipt of other social protection benefits.

Furthermore, in consideration of the available fiscal space for the program, the Disability Support Allowance will be progressively rolled out across the country, starting with minors with disabilities until all registered persons with disabilities are covered.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
