TWENTIETH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 4279

Introduced by Representative Jan Rurik D. Padiernos, GP (Galing sa Puso) Party-List

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Legal Staff, also known as the Office of the Chief State Counsel (OCSC), serves as the principal legal counsel of the government under the Department of Justice. The OCSC, under the Office of the Secretary of Justice, assists the Secretary of Justice in his role as Attorney General. The OCSC handles complex legal matters such as international cooperation, extradition, mutual legal assistance, the transfer of sentenced persons, refugee and statelessness cases, and the negotiation of treaties and trade agreements. However, unlike their counterparts in the prosecution service and the Office of the Solicitor General, State Counsels have not been granted the same recognition, rank, and benefits despite the demands of their work.

This bill seeks to correct that disparity by strengthening and professionalizing the OCSC. It expands its organization, upgrades the positions of State Counsels, and grants them benefits and retirement privileges comparable to those of judges and prosecutors. In doing so, the measure ensures fairness and equips the Office with the resources needed to carry out its mandate effectively.

Over the years, the OCSC has evolved into a vital arm of government. Its work now goes beyond the rendition of legal opinions to include treaty implementation, inter-agency legal disputes, and legal support in both domestic and international matters. Without adequate recognition and support, however, the Office risks losing highly qualified lawyers who are essential to the effective legal representation of the Republic.

The responsibilities carried out by State Counsels have become essential to the fulfillment of the Department of Justice's mandate. This bill seeks to accord them the support and benefits they deserve, guided by the principle that equal work merits equal recognition. Its passage will strengthen the OCSC and enhance the government's legal capacity for the good of the nation.

This bill has been filed in the 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th Congresses which signifies its importance and urgency. In re-filing this proposed measure in the 20th Congress, it is sincerely hoped that this will finally gain enough support for its passage into law in order to empower and recognize our State Counsels as they perform fully and effectively their mandates.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought for.
