EXPLANATORY NOTE

Our public school teachers are the unsung heroes of our society. They are tasked not only to mold the values of our youth, but also compelled by law to dabble in as members of the Board of Election Inspectors during elections. They are the most exploited employees of the public sector and yet they are unrecognized, ignored and worst neglected by our government.

Public school teachers are lowly paid compared to their counterparts in other countries and could not even afford to defray their daily needs. They are, sometimes, forced to augment their income by other means unrelated to their profession such as selling various goods and merchandize to fellow teachers and worst, to their pupils. Adding to their woes are the soaring prices of basic commodities brought about by economic factors such as the unabated increase of fuel and other petroleum products which greatly diminishes the purchasing power of their salaries. Hence, it is high time to increase or adjust the meager salaries of public school teachers to enable them cope with their daily needs and basic household expenses.

It is the intention of this bill to immediately rectify and remedy the current plight of our public school teachers and to uplift their welfare and living conditions.

Viewed from the foregoing premises, the approval of this bill is forthrightly recommended.
