HOUSE BILL NO. 6361

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Agriculture remains one of the most vulnerable sectors in the Philippines, exposed to typhoons, droughts, floods, plant diseases, pest infestations, and the increasing impacts of climate change. While the Philippine Crop Insurance Corporation (PCIC) has long provided crop insurance to farmers, the existing framework under Presidential Decree No. 1467 enacted in 1978 no longer fully captures the modern risks confronting farmers, fisherfolk, and other agricultural producers.

In practice, only a limited number of agricultural commodities are covered by the current insurance system. Many farmers producing high-value crops, livestock, aquaculture, agroforestry products, and other non-crop assets remain underinsured or completely uninsured. As a result, agricultural producers bear the full economic burden of production losses, and lending institutions remain hesitant to extend credit because of high risk exposure. National data from the Department of Agriculture show that agriculture loses billions of pesos annually due to climate-related events alone, with farmers often unable to recover quickly because insurance coverage is inadequate or unavailable. At the same time, participation of private agricultural insurers remains minimal due to restricted reinsurance mechanisms under existing law.

This bill strengthens and updates the legal mandate of the Philippine Crop Insurance Corporation by expanding its insurance coverage to all agricultural commodities, including livestock, aquaculture and fishery, agroforestry, forest plantations, and related farm assets and infrastructure. It authorizes PCIC to enter into reinsurance agreements with private agricultural insurers to encourage broader private-sector participation and deepen the country's agricultural insurance market. The measure also reforms the composition of the PCIC Board to ensure stronger representation from subsistence farmers and improves governance provisions, including clearer accountability measures for fraudulent claims. In addition, the bill grants no-claim benefits to farmers who have not filed claims for three seasons, thereby incentivizing good farm practices and responsible use of insurance programs.

By modernizing and expanding the functions of the PCIC, this measure provides farmers, fisherfolk, and agricultural enterprises with stronger financial protection, encourages lending institutions to support agricultural production, and promotes resilience in the face of climate risks. The bill ultimately seeks to create a more stable, predictable, and inclusive agricultural economy—one that supports national food security and rural development.

In view of the foregoing, ug sa ngalan sa SERBISYONG TINUORAY, the undersigned respectfully requests the immediate passage of this measure.

AMENDED

Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Philippines in Congress assembled:

Section 1. Declaration of Policy. – It shall be the policy of the State to develop and support an adequate agricultural insurance program as a mechanism for managing the risks inherent in agriculture and stabilizing the financial fluctuations suffered by agricultural producers in case of loss on all agricultural commodities, whether crops or livestock, and including the agricultural facilities and related infrastructures, with the end in view of encouraging lending institutions to extend credit to the agricultural sector.

It shall also be the policy of the State to promote the modernization of the agricultural sector by mitigating the risks inherent to the industry and which increase the barriers to increased market participation in businesses related to agriculture.

Towards this end, the State shall encourage active private sector participation in extending agricultural insurance to members of the agricultural sector by allowing the Philippine Crop Insurance Corporation to undertake reinsurance agreements with private sector agricultural insurers and to extend its insurance services to livestock, aquaculture and fishery, agrofishery, and forest plantation insurance.
