House Bill No. 6449

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Article II Section 11 of the 1987 Philippine Constitution state that "The State shall adopt an integrated and comprehensive approach to health development which shall endeavor to make essential goods, health and other social services available to all the people at affordable cost. There shall be priority for the needs of the under-privileged, sick, elderly, disabled, women, and children. The State shall endeavor to provide free medical care to paupers."

To assist the State in pursuing the aforementioned policy, health institutions were granted the privilege of applying for accreditation as health facilities (HFs). Under the rules as promulgated is consonance with RA 7875, Accredited HFs shall extend PhilHealth benefits to PhilHealth members in the availment of health services and shall reimburse the same with PhilHealth.

Hence, the State is committed to continuously improving its service delivery and strengthening partnerships with HFs. A critical area for improvement is the current policy surrounding PhilHealth's 60-day filing deadline for benefit claims. Over the years, this rigid deadline has led to a significant number of valid claims being returned and denied, causing financial strain on HFs which is currently pegged at a staggering 20 Billion Pesos, and creating operational inefficiencies within PhilHealth's system.

The Supreme Court's decision in G.R. No. 163123 (PhilHealth vs. Chinese General Hospital and Medical Center) highlighted the necessity of adopting a more flexible approach to claims processing. The Court emphasized that strict procedural rules should not undermine the core objective of the National Health Insurance Program (NHIP), which is to ensure financial access to essential health services for all Filipinos.

Section 46 of the Implementing Rules and Regulations (IRR) of RA 7875, as amended, explicitly states:

"All claims for reimbursement or payment for services rendered shall be filed within a period of sixty (60) calendar days from the date of discharge of the patient from the health care provider. The period to file the claim may be extended for such reasonable causes as may be determined by the Corporation."

This provision underscores PhilHealth's authority to extend the filing period for claims when justified by reasonable causes. The intent behind this flexibility is to ensure that Health Facilities are fairly compensated for the services they render, even when delays in claim submission occur due to circumstances beyond their control.

This bill seeks to address the issue of the 60-day filing period of claims with PhilHealth which proves to be unreasonable and debilitating to the healthcare industry.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
