AN ACT INSTITUTIONALIZING THE BALIK PROBINSYA, BAGONG PAG-ASA PROGRAM, CREATING THE BALIK PROBINSYA COUNCIL, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Philippines has long grappled with the problem of overconcentration of population, investments, and opportunities in Metro Manila and other major urban centers. This urban migration, driven by the lack of sustainable livelihood, infrastructure, and basic services in the countryside, has led to overcrowding, traffic congestion, housing backlogs, and urban poverty. According to the Philippine Statistics Authority, the National Capital Region (NCR) remains the most densely populated region, housing over 13 million residents as of 2024, while many provinces continue to experience low economic activity and limited access to quality employment and public services. This urban-rural imbalance stifles inclusive development and widens the gap between the rich and the poor.

Article II, Section 9 of the 1987 Philippine Constitution mandates the State to "promote a just and dynamic social order that will ensure the prosperity and independence of the nation and free the people from poverty through policies that provide adequate social services, promote full employment, a rising standard of living, and an improved quality of life for all." In line with this constitutional duty, the Balik Probinsya, Bagong Pag-asa (BP2) Program was launched as a flagship initiative to decongest urban areas and revitalize the provinces through balanced regional development. This measure seeks to institutionalize the BP2 Program to ensure its continuity, sustainability, and whole-of-government implementation regardless of changes in administration.

The bill establishes the Balik Probinsya, Bagong Pag-asa Council, composed of key national government agencies, to coordinate, supervise, and harmonize policies, programs, and projects that promote countryside development. The BP2 Program focuses on four key areas: (1) Empowerment of Local Industries, to strengthen regional economies and support MSMEs; (2) Food Security and Agricultural Productivity, to modernize and mechanize agriculture for sustainable rural growth; (3) Social Welfare, Health, and Employment, to improve access to healthcare, education, and livelihood in the provinces; and (4) Development of Infrastructure, to ensure connectivity, accessibility, and investment readiness across all regions.

By establishing a structured short-, medium-, and long-term framework, this measure ensures a smooth transition for individuals, families, and enterprises choosing to relocate from congested cities to the countryside. It also aims to build resilient, self-sufficient, and vibrant provincial communities that serve as engines of economic growth. Ultimately, this legislation reinforces the national vision of inclusive and balanced progress where opportunities and prosperity are not confined to Metro Manila, but are equally shared across all regions of the Philippines.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this measure is earnestly sought.
