TWENTIETH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 6569

Introduced by Representative Antolin A. Oreta III

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Philippines is experiencing a demographic shift toward an aging population. By 2035, Filipinos aged 60 and above are projected to reach around 15–17% of the total population, officially classifying the country as an “aging society.” This transition demands specialized health systems capable of addressing chronic illnesses, functional decline, cognitive impairment, and social vulnerability among older persons.

Despite this demographic trend, the Philippines is ill-prepared to meet the challenges that beset older Filipino persons, which would certainly impact the socio-economic stability of the nation.

Although the Department of Health (DOH) is mandated to establish geriatric wards in public hospitals pursuant to Republic Act No. 7432, also known as the Senior Citizens Act, and its subsequent amendments, like Republic Act No. 9994 (the Expanded Senior Citizens Act of 2003), geriatric wards and geriatric-focused services are very limited in general hospitals. General hospitals are not fully equipped to manage multiple chronic conditions, which require multidisciplinary and long-term approaches.

Home-based and community-based elderly care systems are also weak. Most of which are private and not affordable for the great number of older Filipino persons. Moreover, the Philippines has very few geriatricians, estimated to be around two hundred only, nationwide.

At present, the only dedicated health facility for older persons in the Philippines is the Dr. Eva Macaraeg Macapagal National Center for Geriatric Health (NCGH), which is just a 50-bed capacity hospital. It is an annex of the Jose R. Reyes Memorial Medical Center (JRRMMC), catering mostly to senior citizens, by virtue of Department of Health Order No. 0085, Series of 2010.

The NCGH operates as an outpatient department with an average daily consultation of 120 patients. Most cases seen were dementia, hypertension, diabetes, and arthritis. Its services include expanded community geriatric service, immunization for the elderly, teleconsultation, laboratory, radiological and rehabilitation services, hemodialysis, and free medicines.

This bill proposes to convert the Dr. Eva Macaraeg-Macapagal National Center for Geriatric Health under the Jose R. Reyes Memorial Medical Center as a national specialty center to be known as the Dr. Eva Macaraeg-Macapagal National Center for Geriatric Health and Research Institute (DEMM-NCGHRI), which shall be under the direct control and supervision of the DOH;

Under the proposed legislation, the DEMM-NCGHRI shall provide the following services:

- a. Hospital-based services to ensure the availability of medical facilities and equipment for senior citizens needing acute and sub-acute care, geriatric palliative care, outpatient and transitional care services;
- b. Specialized clinical, public health, and operations research and training programs with a multidisciplinary or multi-center approach;
- c. Technical assistance and capacity building in the establishment of geriatric specialty centers; and
- d. Programs and services for the special needs of senior citizens with disabilities;

The DEMM-NCGHRI shall serve as an apex hospital or end-referral facility that shall specialize in geriatric health services. It shall provide and maintain timely, people-centered service through an efficient health service delivery system for senior citizens.

The DEMM-NCGHRI shall also provide higher and up-to-date geriatric training for professionals, postgraduates, academics, and allied healthcare providers, especially from the geriatric specialty centers. It shall conduct cutting-edge research studies on diseases related to old age for the development of policies, protocols, standards, and solutions for specialized health care.

The Philippines is at a critical turning point. The steady rise of its aging population requires a purpose-built health system response. A Geriatric Hospital and Research Center is not only beneficial—it is necessary to ensure that older Filipinos receive specialized, compassionate, and evidence-based care. It will serve as the country's center of excellence, upgrading clinical services, training the healthcare workforce, and producing research that will guide national policy for decades.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this vital piece of legislation is earnestly sought.
