AN ACT
PROVIDING FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A KADIWA NI ANI AT KITA

APPROPRIATING FUNDS THEREFOR

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Food security remains a critical challenge for the Philippines. While the country has moved past the COVID-19 pandemic, lingering effects of global inflation and climate-related disruptions have kept food prices volatile. Building on data from the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, which previously identified the Philippines to have the highest number of food-insecure individuals in Southeast Asia, recent 2024-2025 assessments show that millions of Filipino families still struggle with consistent access to nutritious and affordable meals.

By the start of 2025, while national monitoring suggests a slight stabilization compared to post-pandemic peaks of 2022, approximately one in ten households remains food insecure. In response, the government has intensified its efforts to bridge the gap between rural producers and urban consumers through the expanded "Kadiwa in Ani at Kita" program.

Originally launched in 2019 and significantly scaled up over the last few years, Kadiwa Program serves as a vital intervention strategy. It is a multi-agency collaboration between the Department of Agriculture (DA), the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG), and Food Terminal Inc. (FTI), a Government-Owned and Controlled Corporation. This project establishes a direct link between farmers and fisherfolk, direct producers of food, to the consuming public.

Through localized Kadiwa ni Ani at Kita stores, livelihood opportunities are secured for Filipino farmers and fisherfolk, while also ensuring food security in local government units (LGUs), especially in Metro Manila, which face food supply challenges amidst the pandemic.

In order to institutionalize food security efforts and livelihood opportunities for Filipino farmers and fisherfolk, this bill seeks to establish a Kadiwa ni Ani at Kita Store in a public market in Barangay San Agustin in Quezon City. The Kadiwa ni Ani at Kita Store shall provide a sustainable direct marketing link between accredited farmers and fisherfolk and the local consumers through the local government unit, while ensuring that the farm and fishery products are fresh, healthy, and affordable. Additionally, this will complement the Republic Act No. 11321 or the Sagip Saka Act, which provides for the direct purchase of agricultural and fishery products by local government agencies.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
