AN ACT
ESTABLISHING A COMPREHENSIVE, INTEGRATED AND SUSTAINABLE
REINTEGRATION PROGRAM FOR OVERSEAS FILIPINO WORKERS

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Millions of Filipinos have worked overseas at different points in their lives. They leave for varied reasons—employment gaps, wage differentials, limited domestic opportunities—and they return for equally diverse circumstances.<sup>1</sup> While the Philippine government has long maintained programs for deployment and protection, reintegration upon return remains fragmented and often merely reactive.

At present, reintegration assistance is frequently accessed only after an OFW has already returned, and is largely limited to short-term livelihood support or ayuda. There is no fully institutionalized, full-cycle reintegration framework that begins prior to return, provides support while overseas, and ensures opportunities toward employment, entrepreneurship, or further education at home. As a result, many of our balikbayans struggle with underemployment, skills mismatch, and ultimately, financial instability. This concerns not only a personal challenge for returning workers, but also a missed opportunity for national development.

The proposed measure seeks to address these challenges by institutionalizing a comprehensive full-cycle reintegration program. It affirms the right of OFWs to equal opportunity, decent living, dignity, and meaningful participation in policies affecting their welfare, without romanticizing migration or treating overseas work as an ideal end-state. The bill also recognizes the economic value of our OFWs, not for their remittances, but for their experience, skills, and perspectives that can contribute to our local industries.

To improve labor market matching and systems coordination, this bill establishes a Returnee-OFWs Management Information System (ROMIS) and operationalizes a Reintegration Management System (RMS). These platforms will serve as centralized platforms to facilitate job matching, livelihood training, and access to financing. For returnees who seek local employment, the bill mandates the conduct of regular job fairs and directs relevant agencies, such as the Civil Service Commission, TESDA, and CHED, formulate guidelines for recognizing education, training, and work experience acquired overseas. This would prevent cases of skills downgrading and would ensure that competencies gained abroad are properly valued in the domestic labor market. Meanwhile, for those pursuing entrepreneurship, the measure provides structured business-oriented capacity-building programs, expanded financial awareness training, access to credit through government financial institutions, and technical support particularly in the agri-fishery and MSME sectors. These interventions are intended to ultimately promote self-sufficiency, rather than reliance on short-lived livelihood grants or ayuda programs.

In institutionalizing a full-cycle and data-driven reintegration framework, the proposed Bagong Balikbayan Act aims to ensure that our OFWs' return is not met by uncertainty, but by opportunity, and the realistic possibility of long-term economic participation and stability at home.

In view of the foregoing, the approval of this measure is earnestly sought.
