House Bill No. 8178

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill seeks to establish a Philippine Business Registry Databank (PBRD) which shall assist in the facilitation of business transactions among local and foreign entrepreneurs.

In the age of Globalization, business transactions cross geographical borders in a short period of time. Vital and comprehensive information should be available within a matter of seconds to ensure the success of the dealings. The less challenges the investors and entrepreneurs face, the higher the success rate which will translate to the development of the country's economy.

The local government of Quezon City recognizes the need to create a business comprehensive database in order to facilitate the business transactions in the city. The Quezon City Business Registry contains important information like business demographics and premium brands. Such program lives up to the city's tags as the "ICT Capital of the Philippines" and "Most Business Friendly City." The city of Naga enacted Ordinance No. 2005-0008 on January 24, 2005 which mandated the creation of the Naga City Business Registry Databank. Clearly then, there is a need to create a comprehensive national business database to collate, merge and make available on a national level such data.

The measure provides for the creation of the Philippine Business Registry Databank which shall serve as the main repository of business data in the country. It shall provide business information and other services through electronic networking. The speedy access to important information shall facilitate business transactions and partnerships. In order to coordinate the activities of the PBRD, a national coordinating board shall be established. Representatives from various departments and agencies such as the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI), the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG) and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) shall serve as members of the board. The President of the Philippines shall appoint three representatives from business organizations to the board for a term of three years.

The information to be utilized by the PBRD shall come from the consolidated business permits issued by the cities, municipalities and the ones gathered by the SEC and DTI. For its first year, the amount of ten million pesos shall be appropriated to ensure its proper establishment and implementation.

For these reasons, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
