House Bill No. 10139

Introduced by Representative PAOLO Z. DUTERTE

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Republic Act No. 7796, or the Technical Education and Skills Development Act of 1994, underscores the State's responsibility to deliver "relevant, accessible, high-quality, and efficient technical education and skills development" in support of producing a competitive and skilled Filipino workforce aligned with the nation's development goals.

In pursuit of this mandate, this measure proposes the establishment of a TESDA Central Office in Davao City. As one of the most populous and economically significant cities in Mindanao, Davao City serves as a strategic location for a central administrative hub that will oversee and coordinate the implementation of technical-vocational education and training (TVET) programs across the region.

Currently, the absence of a central TESDA administrative presence in the city poses limitations in terms of efficient program delivery, inter-agency coordination, and accessibility for constituents in the southern Philippines. A Central Office would address these gaps by serving as the primary command center for policy execution, monitoring and evaluation, and resource allocation for regional and district offices within Davao Region and nearby provinces.

More importantly, the proposed TESDA Central Office will expand access to quality training programs for marginalized sectors—including low-income families, out-of-school youth, persons with disabilities, and indigenous peoples—who are often left behind in economic growth. By equipping them with market-relevant technical skills and industry-based certifications, the office will enable them to become self-reliant, competitive, and productive members of society.

Beyond individual empowerment, the presence of a TESDA Central Office in Davao City will strengthen the region's human capital, support local industries, and foster inclusive development in Mindanao—helping bridge the socio-economic gap between urban centers and underserved communities.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
